CAN'T FILL THE COUNTRY PARISHES

One' Church Pastorless Seventeen Months-A Layman's Sharp Complaint.

Sharp Complaint.

One of the most serious problems now facing the Episcopal denomination in Virginia is that of filling the country rectorates, many of which are vacuat. The question of meeting this condition is daily growing more urgent for a solution, and considerable attention is being given to the matter. It is now seventeen months since St. David's Church had a rector An article in Our Diocesan Work suggests visitat' ans during the week by country clerg; among the congregation without ministers. This night do if there were country ministers. There are none in Hanover, New Kent, King William, King and Queen, or at St. John's and St. Paul's, Essex, or at Christ Church, Middlesex.

A writer in the Southern Churchman says it seems impossible to supply the country parishes without adopting the Methodist system. No matter how poor, how small, the Methodist churches have services, and a visiting minister; with poor salary, the Methodist ministers always seem busy, energotic, cheerful, and often fat.

"Our ministers," continues the writer, ways seem busy, energotic, cheerful, and often fat.

"Our ministers," continues the writer, "say to me: "There is no work here. I must go to the city." There are more people, but is there more work? The work is very different, but rest assured it is abundant. A minister should have our best, and he usually gets it. When it is known that he is coming the very hest is set before him. He eats and says: These people live well, they ought to give more money. Does it ever occur to him that these people, because of his effice, deny themselves comforts daily to give him luxuries? No individual is meant in anything written, and 'tis hoped none of the clergy are spreading their feeling net around them to be stepped upon unconsclously and hurt. We want Christian men, not afraid of work, that roughens the hands and solls the clothes, when that sort of work is necessary. God bless all who are trying to do His will, and make them able and willing to 'endure hardship."

MISSIONARIES THERE

Dr. George Heber Jones, Just Returned, Tells of Work and What the Land Is Like.

To the man who has, with any degree of care, given his attention to Southern affairs, and particularly to him who has studied the rapidly increasing litcrature upon the questions that now store the citizen of this section in the face, it is truly a notable and remarkable change that has come over one of the great magazines of the North in its attitude toward these mighty problems.

The Independent, of New York, is a high class weekly, whose opinions upon most subjects are carefully weighed and in many cases shared by a large clintele in this city. But upon this vexed Southern question the Independent has been rabid to high degree. Its voice carried that inevitable far-away tone that has been so generally characteristic of the utterances of the Northern press and public upon a matter concerning which they were densely and seemingly irrecovably ignorant.

But the editor of the Independent has at last come South, and when he went back he wrote an article. The people of Richmond have been reading it; the Religious Herald has reproduced the better portion of it; widespread attention has been attracted to it as a monumental indication of a change of sentiment that is now said to be sweeping over the North. Thus speaks the Independent: high class weekly, whose opinions upon ent:

The Rev. George Heber Jones, Ph. D., of Chemulpo, Korea, a missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church to that country since 1888, is now in the United States on furlough, making his home at Utlea, N. Y. Dr. Jones began his work in Korea enly four years after the country was opened to mission effort. In response to a request, he has made the filowing statement concerning foreign missions and missionaries in that empire:

The present missionary forces in Korea are grouped into four bodies: (1) Presbyterians, (2) Methodists, (3) Anglicans, (4) Catholics. These four bodies maintain a large staff of American and European workers, with a widely distributed native church of fully $5,000 professed converts, who, with the adherents, embracing inquirers and seekers after Christian truth, attendants on the various congregations, relatives and, friends of Christians not yet in the church, but favorable to Christianity, make up a total Christian population of $0,000, or approximately two per cent. of the entire population of these have been won to Christianity since 1890, the Christian population more than 25,000 all told, so that the growth numerically has been unparalleded by any other mission field during day of the term. This will be of interest to practitioners having cases in his court, as it has been usual to call them on two separate days.

The February term of the Hustings Court will begin on Monday, and the day will be devoted to the work of the grand jury. Quite a number of cases have been certified from the Police Court, and the grand jury will have considerable work.

not more than 25,000 all told, so that the growth numerically has been unparalleded by any other mission field during the same period of time.

SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION.

The various missions of these Christian bodies carry on work along all the lines of Chhistian activity. A large proportion of the workers are engaged in the direct work of preaching, large numbers of the Konean people being open to approach and disposed to consider the claims of Christianity upon them. Schools are maintained, ranging from the primary day school, carried on by native churches in the vikages and hamlets, up to the higher seminaries and institutions for advanced education. As there are no public schools, these institutions have a large Mr. Winston Talks of Work on Mr. J. O. Winston, senior member of the firm of Winston and Company, who are constructing the settling basin at the Five Mile locks, is in the city. Mr. Winston has just finished a trip of inspection of the various pieces of work his firm is constructing in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virgina. He says he has never experienced such winter weather in Massachusetts, thermometer as often below as above zero, and never very far from it. ter as often below as above zero, and never very far from it.

Though the weather has retardd the work on the settling basin, they are busy putting everything in shape to do the work quick when conditions will permit. Mr. Winston feels gratified at his progress being made on all their works. vanced education. As there are no public schools, these institutions have a large field of usefulness. This has been particularly the case in schools for girls, the Christian schools being the only ones where girls may obtain an education. Hospitals and dispensaries to the number of twelve are maintained by the various Christian bodies, where 50,000 patients are treated every var. Special rious Christian bodies, where 50,000 pa-tients are treated every year. Special corps of trained workers, teachers, doc-tors, nurses and various sisterhoods carry on a large work among Korean women, and have had gratifying success. A large and poular Christian literature ic being created by the missionaries, their writings and publications in various forms exceeding the output of all other literature in the empire. The missions in Korea are dominated by the best spirit of friendliness and co-operation. Sectorian strife is virtually operation. Sectarian strife is virtually panished, and denominational peculiari-ties are held at a very ow value. Stress is laid on the many and fundamental es-sentials of religious truth, which all share sentials of religious truth, which all snare in common. As far ag the non-Christian Korean can see, the Christians appear to consist of only three camps—the Evangelicals, the Roman Catholics and the Greek Catholics. The missionaries of all the evangelical churches maintain various interdenominational organizations, such as the Korean Beligious Trace Society. such as the Koroan Religious Tract Sosuch as the Koroan Rel'glous Tract So-clenty and the Bible Committee of Korea, where the missionaries meet as brothers in one great work. The Tract Society is now soliciting funds to erect a building in Seoul for its expanding and important work, a project worthy of the hearty sup-port of all lovers of Christian unity.

KOREA WILL BE INVADED. The Koreans, as a rule, make earnest, sturdy Christians. There are not lacking dishonest and tricky fellows, who manage to deceive the churches for a Realmuto—Rye.

Mr. Frank Realmuto and Miss Annie Rye were married at the Cathedral yesterday morning, and left immediately for Norfok, where they will remain for about a week.

feuds among the various clans and factions in Korea to set the land ablaza at any time. There is no doubt but that both the contending partles will respect the rights of the missionaries and the safety of the Christian Church. Splendid men guard the interests of forcign nations in Korea. Hon. Horace N. Allen, the present United States minister, first went to Korea twenty years ago as the founder of the Presbyterian Church Mission. He has achieved high distinction in the service both of the Korean and the United States governments. Hon. J. N. Jordan, C. M. TURN THEM TO CHRISTIANITY.

It is the conviction of the writer that the result of the present complications and trials, through which the Koreans are being called to pass, will be the turning of immense numbers of the Koreans to the sure hope, comfort and inspiration, and the newer and better life found only under Christianity. The greatest problem of the missionary situation in Korea is this: Suppose we should awake some morning to find 50,000 or 500,000 Koreans standing on the front doors of evangelical churches demanding admittance to the privileges and blessings of Christianity, are the churches in America ready and willing to measure up to their responsibilities in the case, and enter upon the larger activity which such a development would impose upon them?

Senate Refers the Resolution Urging Congressmen to Favor Brownlow Bill.

THE CEMETERY BILL UP

Question of Constitutionality Raised, But Bill Finally Engrossed by Senate.

The feature of yesterday's session of the General Assembly was the discussion in the Senate of the resolution instructing the Virginia members of Congress to support the Brownlow good roads bill. The measure was finally referred to a committee. There is said to be little likelihood of its passage by the Senate, in the event it is reported.

The House bill making appropriation for the care of the graves of soldier dead in the various cemeteries also provoked some discussion, but was finally sent to its engrossment.

Mr. Sale offered a bill proposing a ten thousand dollar appropriation for the treatment of indigent sick in chartered institutions by contract through a hoard with such hospitals.

In the House the general insurance bill was passed by, and will probably be recommitted to permit further hearings thereon. There was little else worthy of note in the House session, other than the introduction of a number of bills, few of which are important. The Senate.

The Senate.

The Senate at for an hour and a quarter yesterday, Lieutenant-Governor Willard presiding.

The resolution proposing to instruct the senators of Virginia and request the representatives of the State in the Congress of the United States to support the Brownlow bill, proposing an appropriation of twenty-four millions for improving the public reads of the State, precipitated a spirited debate, in which the propriety of the action proposed or suggested was rather fully discussed.

Mr. Barksdale, of Hallfax, visorously opposed the resolution, and in the course of his speech in opposition to the proposition he intimated that the measure might flood this State with carpet-bag officials. The House.

The session of the House, opened with prayer by Rev. F. T. McFaden, was a busy one. A number of bills were passed to their engrossment and several of them caused some discussion.

The general insurance bill was passed by in the absence of the patron, Mr. Caton, who will, upon his return, have it recommitted, in order to give general hearings on the subject.

The bill of Mr. Thomason to restrict the sale of cocaine and other poisonous drugs was discussed at some longth, and then passed by, on motion of Mr. Cardwell. When Colonel Bowman's bill to nuthorize the board of supervisors of Ronnoke county to erect a Confederate monument came up, it was so amended by Mr. Cardwell as to make it apply to all counties, and was engrossed.
